

AAHA Volunteer Writer

The primary purpose of this volunteer position is to contribute to AAHA's written content by researching, writing, and sourcing articles on veterinary-related topics. Writers will collaborate with AAHA staff, follow feedback, and revise drafts as needed.

Time Commitment:

The estimated time commitment varies depending on the writer and topic. On average, it takes approximately 8 hours to write and source an article (roughly one workday). This estimate does not include time for review and revisions from the AAHA team.

Qualifications:

Writing experience is preferred. If the volunteer does not have writing experience, recent clinical experience in the veterinary field is desirable. Volunteers must be comfortable receiving and incorporating feedback for story revisions.

Work Requirements:

Volunteers will work asynchronously and will be responsible for:

- Researching and finding sources
- Writing articles on a computer
- Conducting interviews as needed
- Emailing drafts for review and revisions

If you are interested in volunteering for this opportunity or have any questions, please contact Connor Dunwoodie at connor.dunwoodie@aaaha.org or sign up for our volunteer list.